

The Murder

The body of Mr. Thorpe was discovered decapitated and stuffed in the breakfast room water closet.

A church bulletin was found in his pocket and a swatch of hair wrapped in a handkerchief lay beneath him.

The shock of the murder has quickly spread throughout Rosings Park.

The details are forthcoming, things are not what they seem.

The Murder

The body of Mr. Thorpe was discovered this afternoon decapitated and stuffed in the breakfast room water closet. The murder occurred around midnight.

A church bulletin was found in his pocket and a swatch of hair wrapped in a handkerchief lay beneath him.

The shock of the murder has quickly spread throughout Rosings Park. The details are forthcoming, things are not what they seem.

Your quest: to discover who committed the murder and prove your innocence.

YOUR PLAYER'S PROFILE:

Marianne Dashwood

(Sense and Sensibility)

Marianne is highly sensitive to the beauty of nature, music, and art and is easily moved by them. She is also highly idealistic and believes in the power of love to transform people's lives. However, her romantic ideals often blind her to reality, and she tends to act impulsively without considering the consequences of her actions.

Costume: A regency styled dress (looks a bit like a nightgown and bonnet.)

Who committed the murder?

- Lady Catherine de Burgh.....
- Miss Elizabeth Bennet.....
- Darcy Fitzwilliam
- Marianne Dashwood.....
- John Willoughby
- Mr. Bennet
- Mrs. Bennet
- Emma Woodhouse
- Frank Churchill
- Mr. Collins