

The Murders

London, 1888.

One by one, women of Whitechapel fell victim to a killer whose cruelty shocked the nation, yet the police were powerless to solve the crime.

Tonight, you are called to pick up the trail. Armed with headlines torn from the press, whispered rumors, and scattered clues, you and your fellow guests must untangle the mystery that baffled Victorian London...

Who was Jack the Ripper!

The Murder Mystery

London, 1888. Gas lamps flicker. Footsteps echo in narrow alleys. And somewhere in the shadows, Jack the Ripper is watching.

Trust no one. Defend your alibi. Solve the puzzles. By the final candle's burn, one of you will be unmasked as Jack the Ripper.

Dinner, drama, and murder—served Victorian style.

YOUR PROFILE:

Matilda Graves

Mysterious, and dramatic, Matilda Graves claims she can speak to the dead... which is convenient, considering how many bodies seem to turn up in Whitechapel. She's always just a step ahead of the Ripper—or perhaps guiding him along.

Who committed the murders?

Sherlock Holmes .....	<input type="checkbox"/>
Molly Malone .....	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dr. Francis Tumblety ..	<input type="checkbox"/>
Mrs. Agatha Pottle .....	<input type="checkbox"/>
Aaron Kosminski .....	<input type="checkbox"/>
Matilda Graves .....	<input type="checkbox"/>
Charles Lechmere .....	<input type="checkbox"/>
Violet Adler .....	<input type="checkbox"/>

Costume: A flowing, dark Victorian gown with lace and shawl, adorned with crystals and charms, a dramatic scarf or veil, and a crystal ball or tarot cards always at hand.

