

The Murders

London, 1888.

One by one, women of Whitechapel fell victim to a killer whose cruelty shocked the nation, yet the police were powerless to solve the crime.

Tonight, you are called to pick up the trail. Armed with headlines torn from the press, whispered rumors, and scattered clues, you and your fellow guests must untangle the mystery that baffled Victorian London...

Who was Jack the Ripper!

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED...
... TO AN EVENING OF
MURDER, MYSTERY, AND MAYHEM

Join us for a Jack the Ripper-themed dinner party of suspense and sleuthing!

The Murder Mystery

London, 1888. Gas lamps flicker.
Footsteps echo in narrow alleys.
And somewhere in the shadows,
Jack the Ripper is watching.

Trust no one. Defend your alibi.
Solve the puzzles. By the final candle's burn, one of you will be unmasked as Jack the Ripper.

Dinner, drama, and murder—
served Victorian style.

YOUR PROFILE:

Agatha Pottle

Agatha Pottle runs her bakery with a smile... but what really goes into her pies is anyone's guess. Her "special filling" might include a little something extra—perhaps the wronged, the missing, or the recently disappeared. One bite and you might be hooked... or you might be next.

Costume: A flour-dusted apron over a modest Victorian dress, with a baker's cap, rolling pin in hand, and an innocent smile that hides just a hint of something... sinister.

Who committed the murders?

- Sherlock Holmes ☐
- Molly Malone ☐
- Dr. Francis Tumblety .. ☐
- Mrs. Agatha Pottle ☐
- Aaron Kosminski..... ☐
- Matilda Graves ☐
- Charles Lechmere ☐
- Violet Adler ☐

